

CISTalks

Time: 2024-11-06T13:00-14:00

Location: BBBF-309, Yeditepe University

Open to the public. All are invited.

How to write more citable articles in computer science

Ş. İpek Karaaslan

Yeditepe University

Abstract

The importance of research is getting higher every day. As academics, there are certain crucial keys that we have to be careful about. With the help of some commercial software, we may work as we did or change our path to a different one.

Biography

She was born in 1976 in Kırklareli. She completed her primary, secondary and high school education in Kırklareli. In 1998, she graduated from Marmara University, Department of Physics Teaching. In 1999, she completed her master's degree at The University of Liverpool. She received her doctoral degree in 2006 from ITU Energy Institute Nuclear Researches Department. In 2009, she obtained the title of associate professor in "atom, molecule, and plasma physics." In 2018, she was awarded the title of Professor at Yeditepe University. She has been an academic staff member at Yeditepe University Physics Department since 1999 when she started as a research assistant.