

I am Elif Piranlioğlu, one of the graduates of Food Engineering in 2017. I am currently doing a master's degree in Bioengineering at Marmara University. When I decided to pursue a master's degree after graduation, I was one step ahead of other students because I attended the Erasmus program during my undergraduate studies. I went to Aarhus University in Denmark as part of the Erasmus program to meet new cultures, new people, new places and a new me. I had great worries and fears before I went, but with the support of my teachers and my family, I stepped into a world I had never knew. I did not have any difficulty in the lessons because the lectures of the teachers at the school I attended were the same as the lectures of my teachers; understandable and clear. I didn't have any difficulty in terms of language and because I had to speak English constantly, my command of the English language improved. I recommend this program to all my friends who have the opportunity to benefit from this program.
